Indicted Cop—Policeman Joseph F. Allen of Roxbury Crossing station today was indicted by Suffolk grand jury in connection with confession of ex-cop Paul A. Petzold. Allen was charged with having kept secret the guilty knowledge of a crime.

Parted by Death—Tragedy stalked the prominent Braggiotti family of Boston when Sebastian, 14, was accidentally killed while shooting frogs with two chums at Ogunquit, Me. The boy is shown with his mother, former Mary Crandon Smith of Brookline.

HEADS TOGETHER—Studying the indictment of Patrolman Joseph F. Allen are (l. to r.) Deputy Superintendents John M. Anderson and Benjamin Wall, Dist. Atty. William J. Foley and Superintendent James Claflin.

Others Facing Arrest; New Patriarca Charge

First of the sensations resulting from the amazing confession of ex-Policeman Paul A. Petzold, who charged that other policemen conspired with him in the commission of crimes, came today with the voting of an indictment against Patrolman Joseph F. Allen of Roxbury Crossing station by the Suffolk County grand jury.

At the same time—unrelated to the Petzold case—the same jury again indicted Raymond L. S. Patriarca, Rhode Island's Public Enemy No. 1, stormy petrel of the recent probe of the so-called pardons racket, in connection with a $3278 payroll stickup.

Allen named in two indictments—one charging conspiracy to steal; the other failure to do his duty as a policeman—was taken into custody by Deputy Supt. James R. Claflin, Inspt. William Philbrick, and Capt. Thomas F. Casey. In civilian clothes, he was taken to the courthouse and questioned by attaches of the district attorney's office. He was to be arraigned before Superior Court Judge Thomas J. Hammond.

PROBE NOT FINISHED

"This case is far from over," said District Attorney William J. Foley. "The investigation is continuing and further evidence will be offered to next month's grand jury."

It was said that other policemen may be involved.

Allen is specifically accused of conspiring with Petzold and two others—Alfred P. Abrahams, now on Deer Island, and William Gillar, an inmate of a state prison—to rob the Howard Johnson Huntington avenue restaurant.

That is the first charge against him. The second alleges that he "corruptly requested a bribe or gratuity" from Petzold as the price for failing to do his duty in connection with a criminal act.

He and Petzold were stationmates and are reported to have met frequently after the latter resigned while facing charges of moral turpitude, he having run away with a young girl. To accomplish the meetings, it was said today, Allen would leave a cruiser car and contact Petzold around the corner.

OTHERS FACE CHARGES

Three other policemen are reported to have been named in Petzold's confession, which is also the

Governor Urges Legionnaires Aid Young People of America

By JAMES F. McENANEY

(Boston Evening American Staff Writer)

TAUNTON, Aug. 17—Warning that the young hold the future of America in their hands, Gov. Saltonstall urged delegates at the opening of the 21st annual state convention of the American Legion today to forget "flag waving" and devote more time to the problems of youth.

"Movements in Russia, Germany and Italy, which have brought chaos to Europe today were caused by discontent among the young," the governor declared.

"We mustn't let it happen here. Make our young people content under the American form of government. Find them jobs and give them a start in life. That is your greatest problem today."

WARNS OF DICTATORSHIP

The governor told of his own son, about to wed, and said he was deeply concerned over that lad's future and that the same was true of the sons of each Legionnaire.

He also promised to attend the national convention in Chicago next month and exert every effort to bring the 1940 convention to Boston.

Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Attleboro warned Legionnaires to keep America in the path-ways of peace lest ventures into avenues leading to war bring dictatorship to the nation.

"Another world war would destroy the very fabric of government in the United States, take away the liberties of the people

1 KILLED, 20 HURT IN SHIP LAUNCHING

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 17 (AP)—One woman was killed and 20 persons were injured today when Britain's newest aircraft carrier, the 23,000-ton Formidable, burst her supporting cradle and made a runaway launching into Belfast lough.

The $15,000,000 vessel slid into the water prematurely, hurling blocks of wood supporting her keel among thousands of persons gathered for the launching.

WRECKAGE FILLS AIR

Lady Wood, wife of British Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood, managed to break the traditional bottle of wine on the receding bows as the vessel started sliding away in some unexplained manner.

Although startled by the loud cracking of timbers breaking away from the cradle supporting the 735-foot vessel, she hastily broke the wine bottle and called the Formidable's name.

She could not be heard any distance, however, for pieces of wood, iron nuts and bolts flew into the air. Some of them fell in the crowd of spectators.

Scores of shipwrights, who were below the vessel to free her at a given signal, raced to safety as the cradle crashed about them.

ALL IN CONFUSION

Tugs which grouped at the end of the ways to take the carrier in tow maneuvered frantically to get out of the way of the "runaway" vessel, their sirens screaming.

The bandmaster of the Royal Ulster constabulary shared Lady Wood's presence of mind and struck up "Rule Britannia" just as if the launching had been on schedule.

The formal christening service by assembled clergymen was carried out after the injured had been taken away.

In the group with Lady Wood were her husband and Lord Craigavon, prime minister of northern Ireland.

The Formidable will house more than 60 warplanes and mount 16 4.5-inch guns.

SEA AIDS IN SQUALUS LIFTING

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 17—Favored by nearly perfect weather after last night's storm, the navy today began operations for the second lift and tow of the sunken submarine Squalus, tomb for 26 men.

With only the slightest ground swell present and a bright sun shining, orders to blow air into the nine huge pontoons were given at midmorning for the four-mile tow to shallower and more sheltered waters near the Isles of Shoals.

In the first lift and tow last Saturday, Squalus was brought up from her original resting place in 240 feet of water and taken inshore one mile until she struck on a mud bank 160 feet under the surface—making the new work of the divers considerably easier at the lesser depth.

MISTAKE COSTLY NOW

Successful conclusion of the second lift and tow would bring the craft four miles nearer the navy yard and rest her in only 100 feet of water.

"We will proceed with the greatest caution for we have too much to lose," said Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole, in charge of operations. "One mistake now and we might be back where we were early in June."

Divers today went down to the submarine in relays from the salvage ship Falcon, beginning soon after daylight, endeavoring mainly to trim the pontoons.

At one end of Squalus, one pontoon was found to be about nine feet nearer the surface than its two mates. It was decided to replace the air line and also to attach a new hose line to one of the submarine's ballast tanks.

SURVIVOR IN DIVE

If the raising is successful, the pontoons will be surfaced in late afternoon and all will be in readiness for the start of the second tow.

Meanwhile, Harold C. Preble, naval architect and only civilian survivor of the Squalus sinking, went again to sea in a submarine, this time aboard the Sargo, with the submarine diving for a test run off the Isles of Shoals.

"It was fine," was his only comment on the return of Sargo, which fired a number of dummy torpedoes at surface targets.

Boy Held as Hit-Run Driver Kills Himself

Within a few minutes today after being arrested in his own town as a hit-and-run driver, Gilbert Ogilvie, 21, of Edgemere ave., Wellesley, shot and killed himself in Wellesley police station with a police revolver he found in a washroom locker.

And today his father, Charles E. Ogilvie, prominent Wellesley plumbing contractor, faced the ordeal of breaking the tragic news to his ailing wife that their son's body lay on a Wellesley funeral parlor slab.

The father, almost prostrated, told police his wife was suffering from heart trouble and could not stand the shock of hearing of the tragedy at the time.

The young man had been arrested after Natick police chased his car for several miles and found it wrecked at Wellesley College.

Ogilvie allegedly escaped, but was taken into custody in Central street a short while later.

Booked at the station, he readily admitted his guilt and asked to use the washroom, police said.

A few moments after he stepped into the little room there was a shot, and officers rushed in to find the youth's body slumped on the floor, a service revolver near his hand.

Police officials started an investigation as to why the gun was in the locker and why the prisoner was allowed to go unattended to the washroom.

An unlocked locker in which the gun was kept had been opened, the officials said.

The hit-run accident of which Ogilvie was accused occurred near the front gate of Wellesley College.

A car driven by John Doyle of Vernon st., Worcester, was struck, but three occupants were uninjured.

Doctor Says Snite Will Recover

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Dr. William M. Wildman, who returned today from the Chicago wedding of Fred B. Snite, the young man in the iron lung, declared he believed Snite would return to health.

Dr. Wildman, ship's surgeon aboard the President Coolidge, which brought Snite home from the client after he was stricken with infantile paralysis early in 1936, flipped one run of his vessel to attend the wedding.

"When I called on Fred at his home, last week, he was sitting up in a chair with the light portable respirator attached to his chest," Dr. Wildman said.

"He can breathe unaided, without a respirator, for as long as an hour and ten minutes at a time. Two years ago he could breathe unaided only little more than a fraction of a minute."

"The excellent medical care that has attended him plus his own miraculous courage will pull him through."

Police Quiz Woman in Slashing

Brighton police questioned Frances P. Couch, 42, today for further details of the odd accident in which Nelson Gardner, 43, received a long razor slash across his throat while she was visiting his Linden street, Allston, apartment.

The woman explained she was holding a razor blade while talking with Gardner and accidentally slashed him in the neck when he gave her a friendly shove, police said.

Frightened by the gush of blood from his wound, Gardner ran from the room, clutching his neck with his hands, and was seen by Bernard Millman of Mattapan, who reported the accident to police.

After emergency treatment by a Brighton physician, Gardner was taken to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Fifteen stitches were required to close the wound, but hospital officials said the injury was "superficial" and that Gardner will make rapid recovery.

Lieut. John Welland of the Brighton police station questioned Miss Couch and later talked with Gardner at the hospital. The wounded man corroborated the woman's story, police said.

Officers said Miss Couch gave a Commonwealth ave., Brighton, address. Gardner is an employe of a burglar-alarm concern.

'Talent Scout' Killer Blames High Pay, Girl

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 17—Big earnings as a radio script writer, lack of a steady home and quarrels with a New York radio actress were blamed today by Charles Jefferson for his plight as the Florida slayer of a 17-year-old Miami girl.

Jefferson, son of the late Major Herbert Goddard of Boston and known also as Herbert W. Goddard and Thomas Cochran, told a West Palm Beach reporter, in the presence of Sheriff W. H. Lawrence, he was ready to go to the electric chair.

At the same time, his counsel intimated Jefferson's plea of innocence in the kidnap slaying of Ruth Dunn of Miami might be withdrawn.

The accused 29-year-old former script writer identified the New York radio actress, with whom he said he quarreled, as Jocelyn Sowers, known professionally as Jay Meredith.

In addition to the slaying of the Dunn girl, Jefferson is charged with kidnaping her chum, blond Jean Bolton.

According to Jean, he inveigled them away on the promise that he would give them movie tests. Miss Bolton escaped after three days and led police back to the area where they found the nude body of Ruth Dunn.

Prosecutors today pressed preparations for the Sept. 25 trial of Jefferson.

Jack W. Salisbury, court-appointed defense attorney, said there would be a decision on whether the plea would be changed "after I get in touch with someone with whom the defendant has asked me to communicate."

CUMBERLAND, R. I., Aug. 17—State troopers and bloodhounds combed the woods in the vicinity of Little Pond road, North Cumberland, throughout the night for 9-year-old Barbara Sidebottom—and all the time, Barbara was peacefully sleeping at the home of an aunt.

The search for the girl, who disappeared from her home at 6 p. m. yesterday, was dropped when the aunt, Elizabeth Crawford of Mendon road, Ashton, notified the child's parents of her whereabouts today.

According to Barbara, she "just decided to take a walk" late yesterday and walked all the way to the aunt's home. Police feared she might have been abducted or met with foul play.

WOMAN OF 69 WEIGHS MARRIAGE TO MAN, 83

Whether Fred C. Kelsea, 83, of Highland st., Rockland—the "newspaper-ad groom"—was really going to be married or not was the question today.

Mrs. Mary F. McKenna, 69, of Colby st., Hingham, the "intended" of the five-times married Kelsea, announced she "wasn't sure" whether she would go through with the ceremony.

"I'm going away for a week," she said, shyly. "I never thought there'd be all this publicity. My land, I have a grown daughter and two grown sons."

A number of things conspired to make Mrs. McKenna's engagement unique.

Her bridegroom-to-be has been running an advertisement in his local paper for some weeks.

"Good home now waiting for some woman in good health, one now getting old age assistance preferred."

Kelsea himself is an old age assistance. Within the past few years he has been an odd-jobs man, repairing umbrellas and so on, but now he is not able to do that. But he is a strong man for his age, his blue eyes still sharp and his white mustache bristly.

But his timid fiancee, only once married herself, shied today when she saw the stir the publication of her marriage intentions at Rockland town hall aroused.

"My land," she said. "My land . . ."

Although the first triplets born in Milford Hospital, the children are not the first in Holbrook, that town witnessing its first triple birth 91 years ago.

2 Dog Race Date Pleas Denied

Applications by the Old Harbor Kennel Club, Inc., at Revere, and the Bristol County Kennel Club, Inc., at Dighton, for extension of their present meets for five days more, from Aug. 21 to Aug. 25, inclusive, were denied today by the State Racing Commission.

The commission also denied applications by both groups for licenses to conduct dog racing meets from Aug. 26 to Sept. 2, inclusive.

Applications by both for licenses to conduct dog racing meets beginning Sept. 18 were taken under advisement, however. Old Harbor wants dates from Sept. 18 to Sept. 30, while Bristol wants dates from Sept. 18 to Oct. 31.

As it stands now, the present meets will end Saturday at both tracks. Both are operating under five-day extensions previously granted.

POLAND SEIZES CHIEF NAZI LEADER, AIDES

Scores Arrested In Bitter 'Purge'

WARSAW, Aug. 17 (AP)—Rudolf Weisner, co-leader of the Germany minority party, was under "temporary detention" today and a sweeping Polish campaign against Nazi boring-from-within tactics was predicted.

Foreign observers regarded detention of the middle-aged German as evidence that Poland is prepared to take firm steps against Nazi leaders within her borders lest relative passivity bring a repetition of Czechoslovakia's 1939 experience with the Sudeten area, where Konrad Henlein was German minority leader.

Weisner is considered very open in his Nazi beliefs. He is popularly regarded as ambitious to become the Henlein of the German minority in Poland, but here, Polish circles insist, the parallel must cease.

An official announcement said "several scores" of Germans of polish citizenship and several German citizens also have been arrested, on charges of "belonging to an espionage and subversive organization having its headquarters in the German part of Silesia."

The grand total of these arrests is believed to be several hundreds, including many at such prominent Silesian cities as Katowice. German reports of 1000 arrests are sharply discounted.

Further evidence of Polish determination to clamp down sharply against any subversive activity was seen in announcement that the headquarters of two prominent organizations among the German minority, the Young German party (formed), trade union workmen, have been closed.

An official communique claimed the action was taken because of evidence of the "existence of an organization in German Silesia for espionage regarding military activities along the Polish frontier."

Although Wiesner is prominent among the German minority in Poland he does not enjoy as wide popularity as Ervin Hasbach, head of the Council of Germans party in Poland.

Britain Views Crisis Calmly

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 17—Open extension of Germany's demands to include the Polish corridor as well as Danzig, as revealed in the Reich press, caused a stir in diplomatic quarters today, although British governmental activity indicated there was no crisis in sight for the next few days.

Dispatches from German newspapers showed Chancellor Hitler has boosted his price for peace, discarding the idea of a conference on Danzig, and calling for a basic settlement of East Prussia's isolation.

Yet calm prevailed in Britain, as demonstrated by Lord Halifax's resumption of his vacation in Yorkshire. He and Prime Minister Chamberlain will return to London Monday to inquire into authoritative information that Hitler hopes to be able to make a definite announcement regarding Danzig at the Nazi party congress at Nuremberg beginning Sept. 2.

NEW DEMANDS of Germany on Poland call for immediate settlement of the disputed Danzig and Polish Corridor territory, shown above in black. At the same time, Nazis hinted they would move for return of territory, shaded above, which was once Germany's and is now Poland's.

NAZI TROOPS 'DIG IN' NEAR POLISH BORDER

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Aug. 17 (AP)—German troops moving into the upper Silesian region have "dug in" within 300 feet of Poland's border.

Polish border today showed that with the closing of "a section of the Polish border" yesterday German engineering troops have speeded up work on an already well-developed trench system.

From behind blinds 18 feet high erected in the region of the village of Schoenwald, six miles south of here came the sound of grinding concrete mixers, the chugging of Diesel engines carrying little material cars, and the sucking of ground water pumps.

In the middle of wheat and oat fields dungaree-clad soldiers are digging bombproof shelters and roofing in communication trenches.

Driving on the Schoenwald road to the Polish border patrol house, nine-yard-wide stretches of barbed wire were seen to extend over the rolling farms to the right and left.

Directly behind this maze of wire stand rusty iron tank obstacles, in the shape of gigantic jacks said to have been taken from the former Czechoslovak border fortifications.

So-called "Spanish horsemen" or concrete tri-pronged tank obstacles are also being placed on the border.

Nazis Boost Demands On Poland

BULLETIN

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (INS)—The Polish frontier facing Bohemia and Slovakia has been closed, a German news Agency (DNB) dispatch from Machrisch-Ostrau stated today. The report gave no reason for closing the border.

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (AP)—Guarded hints were thrown out today that Germany has left the door open to Poland for direct negotiations over Danzig, but that a bigger issue than mere unconditional return of the free city to Germany is at stake.

Informed Germans said, however, no signs were discernible today that Italian warnings to Poland to negotiate with Germany had been heeded. The situation remained "unchanged," it was said.

The press indicated Germany would prefer direct dealings with Poland, and denied reports that another "Munich" settlement, involving other powers, was in prospect.

Circles close to the government said they considered the time ripe for the settlement of issues involving the fate of more than 1,000,000 nationals living in the Polish regions bordering on Germany.

These well informed sources said the viewpoint is rapidly gaining ground that Danzig is not enough and that Germany should increase its demands.

Danzig was described as no bargaining point at all.

Circles close to the foreign office and newspaper articles conveyed the growing impression that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's previous proposal to Poland for a combined highway and railway track across the Corridor no longer would meet Germany's requirements.

The Hungarian foreign minister, Count Stefan Csaky, had a second conference today with the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop. Informed circles said the Polish question was the main theme of their conversation.

French Bombers Make 'Raid' Over England

PARIS, Aug. 17 (AP)—More than 200 French bombers and fast sky fighters "raided" population centers of England during the night in reciprocal British-French warplane tests and returned to their bases today reporting all objectives had been reached.

An official communique emphasized the raid was in co-operation with the British air force which tested out its defenses against the invaders.

Collette Takes Hub Censure---'Likes It'

Collette Lyons, Dorchester's own film star, isn't mad at the Boston city censor, even if he did cut one of her best scenes in George White's "Scandals."

In fact, Collette, a Bostonian to her toe-tips, thinks Censor John J. Spencer is justified.

"I know my town," she said to her dressing-room yesterday, "and I know that there are some things that are merely amusing in New York but that shock Boston.

"I can understand it, being a native. I like it, as a matter of fact. That's part of Boston's charm."

"I only hope that people realize that it's all in fun, even if the fun gets a little rough now and then," she said. "And I hope, too, that they realize that an actress has nothing whatever to say about the lines she will speak on the stage."

RUSHED BY FANS

The loyalty of her home-town to the lovely blonde Collette was evidenced by the crowd that waited patiently at the stage door before the matinee.

Armed with pencils and autograph books, they let one after another of the headliners pass unnoticed. Suddenly there was a mass surge forward as Collette's taxi arrived.

"This takes me right back to my high-school days," she said as she signed her name for starry-eyed youngsters.

"I used to dream that some day I'd be a famous opera singer, but I never seriously thought I'd ever be asked for my autograph.

Being back home thrills Collette almost as much as being back in the theater—for although she loves Hollywood and its people, there is nothing like flesh-and-blood acting to this trouper.

"From my window in my sister's house I can see Dorchester High School, where I used to make a flying leap just ahead of the bell every day," she said.

"This morning I took my little niece to the beach at Savin Hill, where I used to swim. I've been so busy rehearsing that I haven't had time yet to see all my old friends and neighbors, but that's what I want to do most of all."

GREETS SCHOOL PAL

The doorman put his head in to announce a visitor. Collette exclaimed:

"Trudy! Send her right up. I haven't seen her in years. We used to play hooky together and go ice skating in the Arena."

Obviously, Collette Lyons has not "gone Hollywood." The one worry she has is that her old schoolmates may hesitate to come back stage to see her, out of fear of being a bother.

During the two weeks' engagement of the "Scandals" at the Shubert Theater Collette is staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. Raymond Stone, wife of a Dorchester dentist.

"You can have all the palatial hotels there are," she concluded, "but I'll take living with the family. There really is no place like home—even if the home-town folks scold the management."

BRAGGIOTTI BOY'S DEATH 'ACCIDENT'

OGUNQUIT, Me., Aug. 17—A verdict of death by "unavoidable accident" was reported today in the death of Sebastian Braggiotti, 14, member of the famous Boston theatrical family, killed by a boy with whom he was shooting bullfrogs.

Police Chief J. Hartley Littlefield said Charles Winer, 14, of Lawrence, Mass., another summer resident, held the gun in the accidental shooting.

A bullet from a .22-calibre revolver struck and pierced the lad's heart. Medical Examiner Charles W. Kingston gave the verdict of accidental shooting.

The boy, son of Stiano Braggiotti and the former Mary Crandon Smith, of Brookline, had been spending the summer with his parents at the summer home of the lad's grandfather, George T. Smith, of Brookline.

BOY PULLS TRIGGER

With two boy chums the lad wandered away this afternoon and the trio amused themselves by obtaining the pistol and shooting at frogs in a small pond behind a theater on the main street of the town.

One of the boys, believing the gun was empty, took it and pulled the trigger. There was an explosion and Sebastiano slumped to the ground, dying almost immediately.

The Braggiotti dancing sisters, Gloria, Marita, Francesca and the late Bertha, were aunts of the dead boy.

FAMILY PROMINENT

Two of his father's brothers are Mario, a pianist, and Dorillo, Harvard athlete of a few seasons ago.

Francesca is the wife of John Davis Lodge, actor brother of U. S. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

The father made frequent appearances on stage and screen studying at St. George's School, Newport, and a New York dramatic academy.

The boy's parents were married in the English channel aboard the S. S. Leviathan in 1925 as they journeyed from Southampton to Cherbourg, France.

Head of N. J. Boys Home Kills Self

VERONA, N. J., Aug. 17 (AP)—Harry Grundman, 43-year-old superintendent of the Newark City Home for Boys, shot and killed himself in the office of the institution he headed for 10 years. A grand jury recently criticized it as "filthy and unhealthy" and mismanaged.

EVICTED FAMILY GETS HOME

The courts, city officials and kind neighbors combined today to make life a little brighter for a young Cambridge mother and her five children.

Evicted for non-payment of rent and then placed in another tenement, the little family at last was assured of proper shelter and food.

The evicted family included Mrs. Mary Travers, 26, and her children, Joseph, Jr., 5; Lorraine, 4, Lillian, 2½, Robert, 19 months, and Richard, 3½ months.

Scheduled for appearance in East Cambridge District Court on a non-support charge was the father, Joseph Travers, a musician.

Mrs. Travers and four of the youngsters were taken into the home of a neighbor, with assurance by city welfare officials that their case will be taken care of. The baby, Richard, was in Cambridge City Hospital under treatment for malnutrition.

Two of the children were without shoes.

With rent unpaid, a constable finally served an eviction order he had carried since June and then took mother and youngsters to a house which was condemned as soon as interested neighbors informed city officials of the Travers' troubles.

Cafes Here Given Extended Hours

Mary Driscoll, chairman of the Boston Licensing Board, announced today that in compliance with a request by two South End restaurants, she has extended their closing hour from 3 a. m. to 5 a. m. during the week of Aug. 27 when the V. F. W. convention is held here.

She said that the veterans probably would appreciate the extension.

Dever Hires Expert In Old Colony Fight

Taking speedy advantage of funds and authority voted by the last week's expiring Legislature, Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever has, it was learned today, engaged one of the country's leading experts on the operation of railroads to aid in the battle to prevent ending of passenger service on the Old Colony lines Sept. 24.

Admitting that such a move had been made, the attorney general declined to name the expert, although it was expected his identity might be revealed later in the day, or tomorrow.

He will cooperate with Asst. Atty. Gen. Edward A. Foss in prosecuting actions now pending before the State Board of Public Utilities, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the United States Supreme Court.

Termination of passenger service on the date scheduled is not likely, it was revealed, owing to the pending cases.

One of the prime factors involved is the question of jurisdiction of the Public Utilities board, a question already proposed to the U. S. Supreme Court, and of vital importance in all such cases throughout the nation.

The attorney general contends that inasmuch as the Old Colony operates wholly within the state, the utilities board has first jurisdiction—a fine point, involving states' rights. A ruling on the point is being awaited.

Such a decision, it was said, is unlikely before October, and no drastic move will be made before that time.

MARGARET L. COWAN
Faces Murder Charge

Held as Sister's 'Mercy Killer'

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP)—Margaret L. Cowan, gray-haired 77-year-old spinster, was charged with murder today in the "mercy slaying" of her sister in a hospital room.

Alderman Joseph Slough fixed next Tuesday for a hearing. At the same time, District Attorney John L. Culshall announced he would request a sanity examination for Miss Cowan, who told police she killed her sister "to put her out of her misery."

"My work on earth is done," Miss Cowan, one-time nurse, said quietly. "If they electrocute me tomorrow, that will be all right."

Detective James L. Christine said she walked into the Allentown State Mental Hospital Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Loucila Saeger, 67, and shot her after feeding her pies and cookies "loaded" with a pain-killer.

Mrs. Saeger had been a mental patient nearly two years.

Bund Sends Hitler U.S. Relief Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (INS)—American WPA workers helped to contribute to a $3000 fund which Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, personally conveyed to Adolf Hitler in 1936 for German "winter relief," Kuhn told the Dies committee today.

Kuhn explained that many bund members were on the WPA relief rolls in this country and that they, along with employed members, were solicited and made contributions.

Kuhn later startled the committee by volunteering an assertion that Atty.-Gen. Frank Murphy, while a candidate for governor of Michigan in 1936, addressed a bund meeting in Detroit.

DIDN'T PRAISE BUND

"Did he praise the bund?" Rep. Thomas (R) of New Jersey, a committee member, inquired.

"Oh, no; oh, no," Kuhn stated emphatically. "He just talked about the German-American element in this country."

Kuhn said that Murphy was invited officially by the bund and spoke for about ten minutes. The meeting was held in Detroit's German House, the witness said.

Kuhn made the relief cash disclosure as he appeared for the second day on the witness stand before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities. The committee reopened its hearings yesterday.

Kuhn clashed repeatedly with Chairman Martin Dies (D.) of Texas over what he claimed was the "unfair" questioning of Rhea Whitley, committee counsel.

WARNING TO KUHN

Warned several times by Dies to answer questions without comment, Kuhn protested loudly. Finally, Rep. Thomas told Kuhn that if he was not decorous:

"We'll take the proper steps to see that you are."

Kuhn and Rep. Tarnes (D.) of Alabama nearly came to blows yesterday when Kuhn branded an assertion by the Congressman as "absolute lie."

To some questions, Kuhn protested to Dies with the result that Dies' gavel banged at frequent intervals during the first half hour of testimony.

Kuhn quieting down at last, said he had made the "winter relief" gift to Hitler with the express permission of William Dodd, the American ambassador to Berlin.

"I have always heard that it is the boast of Germany that they have no unemployed there; that there is even a labor shortage, any labor has to be imported," Starnes asserted.

DEMANDS A LAWYER

"That is correct," Kuhn said.

"Then why were you taking relief funds to Germany?" Starnes pressed.

"It was given to me for that purpose," was the answer. "It was not my business what it was for."

"But you made a call for contributions. It was your idea?"

Kuhn conceded that he had issued the call and originated the idea.

Q—And that money was turned over by you to Herr Hitler. A—That is correct.

Q—And you don't know what he did with the money. A—No.

Q—But you presumed he used it for winter relief? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Why didn't you take that $3000 to give relief to your own people. A—That was my business.

Q—And you think it is proper for American relief workers to contribute to German relief? A—Well, they contribute to Spanish relief, Chinese relief, Russian relief—Communist relief.

Winthrop Weighs Narrow Gauge 'Buy'

The full transportation committee Winthrop, appointed to study the Narrow Gauge, will meet tonight Town Hall, Sidney E. Blandford, hairman, announced yesterday, to discuss the action of the Legislature in approving a measure for the Elevated to take over the Winthrop right-of-way of the Narrow Gauge.

According to the provision of the act, the plan cannot become effective until voted upon by the town. Blandford said he did not expect a town meeting would be called until early next month.

3 HURT AS BOLTS START FIRES HERE

Crashing thunderstorms struck throughout Greater Boston today, firing homes in Brookline and Cambridge.

In Mattapan, another two-alarm fire swept through a six-family tenement, driving out seven persons, causing estimated damage of $9000 and causing injury of three firemen. Investigation of the blaze was ordered, with officials unable to determine immediately whether or not lightning had started it.

Mrs. Pauline Dennis, second-floor occupant at 128 Evans st., Mattapan, aroused six other persons in the building after she was awakened by the smell of smoke.

3 FIREMEN TREATED

Included were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rossman, Morris Waxman, his wife, Sarah, and son, Herbert, 10, and Mrs. Dannis' daughter, Rose, 24.

Three firemen from Engine 52 were taken to City Hospital for treatment for injuries. Hosemen Robert Hutchinson, 46, and William McGranachan, 43, were treated for lacerations and released, while Lieut. John Morgan was held for treatment for smoke inhalation.

In Brookline two alarms were sounded for a fire which caused $11,000 damage on the estate of Ogilbie Comstock, Dudley st., Chestnut Hill. The family is vacationing at Ipswich, N. H.

Michael Dolan, caretaker at a nearby estate, called firemen when a crash of thunder awakened him and revealed the Comstock home in flames.

CAMBRIDGE DAMAGE

In Cambridge, lightning struck a house in Oak street, causing damage of $1000 and driving out Mrs. Mary Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Hector Henderson and their two children.

The noisy electrical storms here followed storms which took lives at Turners Falls and West Sumner, Me., and a cloudburst that trapped 3000 passengers in 15 subway trains in New York.

Alton Hadley, Jr., 10, was killed by lightning in West Sumner, while Herman Wiswall, 35, was similarly killed at Turners Falls.

Farm buildings destroyed in many parts of Maine, with lightning blazes reported also at Northfield and Greenfield, Mass.

The New York subway tieup came at the heighth of traffic and continued until late in the evening, forcing 200,000 to seek other form of travel.

Many of those deprived of normal transportation were visitors bound for the World's Fair.

Those in the trains caught by floods rushing into the subway tubes were led to safety along catwalks. By chance, none of the trains were caught under the East river.

The downpour, which lasted about an hour over a 12-square mile area, gushed through sidewalk ventilators to depths of several feet over the underground tracks, causing the power to fail and several trains to stall between stations.

On the surface, the storm caused mile-long traffic jams and interrupted service on one branch of the Long Island R.R.

LIGHTNING KILLS BOY

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 17 (AP)—Nine-year-old Job Collett of Brewer apparently perished today in flames, attributed by neighbors to a lightning bolt, which consumed his family's Green Lake cottage.

Ideal Weekend Weather Due

Sunny skies, accompanied by cooling breezes, smiled on Boston and New England today in the wake of last night's thunderstorms which brought pleasing drops in temperatures.

While other sections of the nation sweltered in torrid heat, ideal August weather prevailed in New England with forecasters predicting another pleasant week-end.

MYSTERY GIRL'S KIN HUNTED

Police and Massachusetts General Hospital officials today sought additional clues in their efforts to identify an attractive brunette of about 25, found injured near the Milton-Canton town line.

She was sitting, dazed, on a stone wall when officers discovered her. Unable to talk coherently, she was taken to the hospital.

The girl first gave her name as Betty Landry and later as Betty Landers, saying she lived in River st., East Milton, and that she was the step-daughter of a Charles Bennett.

Checkup by police failed to locate any River st. in Milton or any one of those names in that area.

The girl, who has a severe bruise on the back of her head, was well dressed in a blue dress, with hat and shoes to match. Her handbag contained no means of identification.

STRIKE FOES VOTE FOR CIO AT BARRE

SOUTH BARRE, Aug. 17—Employes of the Barre Wool Combing Company, already split by the strike of 200 of their total of 1000, made a clean break today when the 800 remaining at work voted to join the CIO.

The 200 who have been on strike for about a month, seeking higher wages and reinstatement of four of their number, are members of the American Federation of Labor.

Today's vote, which decided for joining the Congress of Industrial Organization, headed by John L. Lewis, was a surprise action and came only a few hours after Governor Saltonstall had adhered to his promise yesterday to the strikers and had withdrawn state troopers from the area at midnight.

It was announced by Fritz Johnson, president of the South Barre Employes Local Union, Inc., that aid would be sought from the CIO in halting personal and property damage to employes at the plant.

Meanwhile, State Labor Commissioner James T. Moriarty, who yesterday sat in while Gov. Saltonstall addressed 150 of the strikers who had been picketing the State House, harshly criticized the company for "needlessly prolonging" the strike.

"Any employer," said Moriarty, "so obstinate that he will not bend before the state of Massachusetts, before the governor of the Commonwealth, and myself as commissioner of labor and industries, in our request to return these girls to work is not the type of man that I want to deal with.

"There was no reason for this strike over such a trifling cause and no reason why it could not have been settled before now."

Lighthouse Tender Damaged in Crash

BATH, Me., Aug. 17 (AP)—A tug pulled the government lighthouse tender Ilex free today four hours after the 172-foot craft smashed against the Carlton bridge here, wrecking her upper deckhouse.

Apparently taking water, the Ilex limped to a berth at a 10-degree list. Thomas Sampson, engineer, estimated the damage at $3000.

Finds West Roxbury Cats No 'Midnight Brawlers'

Acquittal and full pardons for five neighborhood cats in Laurie ave., West Roxbury, were granted today by Dr. Frederick J. Bailey as a subordinate prepared to draft police experts to identify the midnight yowlers.

Dr. Bailey declared an investigation had convinced him the "sleek and well-nourished cats" could not possibly be the "prowlers and brawlers" whose midnight love songs have aroused the ire and complaints of Mrs. Ingrid Johnson, of Laurie ave.

Joseph Cahalan, chief secretary of the department, previously stated he would draft photographers and fingerprint experts from the police to identify the animals and determine their places of origin.

Dr. Bailey also differed with Cahalan on the origin of the yowling cats, believing them invaders from Newton while his chief secretary is convinced they are Dedham denizens.

But certainly not Laurie ave. cats.

SEES F. D. DEFEAT IF HE RUNS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (INS)—Fifteen Democratic senators believe that if President Roosevelt is nominated for a third term the Republicans will win the 1940 presidential election, Senator Frederick Van Nuys (R.) of Indiana declared today.

However, Van Nuys, original leader of the Senate's battle against the President's Supreme Court bill, believes the President can get a third term nomination if he so desires.

He added, though, that either the President or one of "his political capons," if nominated, will be defeated.

PREDICTS DEFEAT

"If we break down that last sacred tradition, the country is gone," said Van Nuys.

"The only reason why I oppose Roosevelt is because of the sacred two-term tradition. I believe the President can probably cudgel the nomination out of the convention, if he so desires, but I don't believe he can carry Indiana or the nation on a third term ticket.

"If a New Dealer is nominated I would try to pick out his good points and support him. But if the President picks out one of his political capons—one of those political hybrids who have never really belonged to the Democratic party—it will be difficult for the Democrats to win."

FARLEY IS FACTOR

Van Nuys is an avowed supporter of Indiana's favorite son, Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, for the 1940 Democratic nomination.

Asked about the possibility of Postmaster General James A. Farley winning the nomination, Van Nuys replied:

"Mr. Roosevelt needs Mr. Farley more than Mr. Farley needs Mr. Roosevelt. If Roosevelt isn't a candidate, Farley will have great strength in the convention."

N. Y. Milk War May Aid N. E.

The dairy farmers of northern Vermont, who supply most of the milk for the city of Boston, will profit if Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York approves a proposal to admit milk from Boston into New York.

Crippled by a strike of upstate New York dairymen who yesterday withheld over 1,000,000 quarts from New York city, the normal supply of the Metropolis would be augmented by fluid milk from the Boston milkshed.

Boston milk authorities said only surplus milk would be sent to New York, and the only change in the situation here would be that Vermont farmers would receive a higher price for their products.

Woman's Body Found in Trunk

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17 (AP)—The battered body of a young mulatto woman was found today in a trunk at the Terminal railway station.

The trunk had arrived yesterday from Washington, D. C.

The body was clad in a slip, brassiere and bloomers, and was lying face down. There was a pool of blood under the head and police reported discolorations on the back, one hip and leg might be bruised. The victim had been dead several days.

2d Battle Of Bull Run

By ARTHUR "RUGS" BAER

The regular army beat the national guard in mimic warfare at Manassas.

We always thought the regular army was entitled to a third strike at that place.

Its other name is Bull Run, where the South wore the grey uniforms but the North carried the mail. Twice in the same place.

The guard used 1917 tactics and were whipped by modern warfare. That's like holding a baby parade in an old home week.

Freed Vet, 91, Going With Wife to G. A. R. Fete

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 17 (AP)—Marion I. Grattan, 91-year-old Civil War veteran plans to go East this weekend for a reunion of his buddies, thanks to the kind heart of Gov. George A. Wilson who commuted the last three months of an eight-year sentence he was serving for manslaughter.

Yesterday, Grattan and his wife, 87, slipped away from the Iowa Soldiers Home at Marshalltown where he has been held in technical custody for several years, and went to the governor's office.

They pleaded for a commutation that would enable them to attend the Grand Army of the Republic national encampment in Pittsburgh next week.

Governor Wilson heard their story and announced an immediate commutation for Grattan, sentenced for shooting Claude Meade, a horse trader.

Mrs. LaFOLLETTE
"Stay Out!"

[illegible] that the sale of arms would promote peace [illegible] is badly in the face of [illegible] experience leading [illegible] our entry into the last war.

"The way to stay out of war is to STAY OUT.

"If we attempt to influence the course of events prior to hostilities by throwing the American productive capacity on arms, ammunition and implements of war into the balance WE WOULD BE GAMBLING WITH THE FATE OF ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY MILLION PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN THE UNITED STATES.

"More important still, WE WOULD BE STAKING THE FATE OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY on the turn of a card in a game of power politics which has been going on in Europe for two thousand years.

"[illegible] States must and do recognize [illegible] established over and over in the experience of nations and in the experience of men as well.

"[illegible] standing envious and jealous of each other [illegible] and fearful of future attacks, stand at the brink of new wars they look to the United States for such help as they can expect and get.

"[illegible] neutrals, and in fact [illegible] because assistance withheld [illegible] might win a war and [illegible] of war.

"[illegible] Americans in Europe today, so far as the United States is concerned.

"Various nations are delaying the start of a war until they feel assured of winning it [illegible] United States has been able to [illegible].

"As a rich and powerful neutral, strictly and honestly aloof [illegible] politics and quarrels of Europe, the United States is in [illegible] and truth PREVENTING WAR.

"As provider of war materials, the United States would inevitably help to set the scales away from peace and probably hasten the days of war."

THUS OUR ONE CHANCE to be of service to humanity to the billion and a half people in other lands President Roosevelt says it is his ambition to aid lies in our KEEPING OUT OF THEIR PREJUDICES AND DIFFICULTIES—keeping free of their envies and hatreds, their intrigues and wars.

[illegible] interest in the situation includes [illegible].

While we are sincerely interested in the preservation of world [illegible] our intimate concern is for our own peace.

We cannot preserve peace, for ourselves or others, BY PUTTING ARMS IN THE HANDS OF NATIONS WHICH WANT TO [illegible].

We cannot preserve peace by arming the greedy and covetous and envious nations of the world.

We cannot preserve peace by inciting hostilities among that [illegible] of nations, or by involving ourselves in their quarrels and [illegible] and entangling attachments.

[illegible] UP to our necks and maybe over our heads when we are in Europe's intrigues and England's ancient game of power politics which, as Senator LaFollette says, has [illegible] thousand years.

IT IS THE HAPPY FORTUNE of modern civilization that perhaps the richest and most powerful nation in the world [illegible] a truly peace loving nation, cherishing [illegible] and relying only its own security.

[illegible] power of that nation would soon [illegible] one or the other of the European scale, ABETTING [illegible] and oppression and bringing about INEVITABLE WAR.

[illegible] what President Roosevelt, whether he realizes [illegible] America and for civilization, is what [illegible] and what Senator LaFollette [illegible] have refused to do.

Guardian Angel

HE may not be a beauty, but his heart's in the right place. His eyes, the mirror of his soul, shine from his gnomish face . . . and as a guardian angel, all he lacks is downy wings . . . and yet, what self-respecting dog would tolerate such things? . . . He never picks a quarrel, but if trouble came his way . . . he'd certainly have something rather definite to say.

Beneath a rough exterior you'll very often find
. . . a heart of gold, a noble soul, a disposition kind.

Paul T. Gebert.

Human Side of News

By EDWIN C. HILL

BY CHANCE, I note that America's great industrial city of Pittsburgh, center of the iron and steel industry of the United States, could celebrate this week if it desired [illegible].

For it was in the year 1754 that the English raised the first log houses on the site of the present city of Pittsburgh.

FEW CITIES have had such a dramatic and historically important beginning. For its site at the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, was the gateway of all the country west of the Alleghenies, a colonial prize for which the French in Canada and the English in New England and Virginia were fated to fight it out. Who won the site of Pittsburgh was America.

The [illegible] that day was borne ashore in the wilderness the French swarmed down from Canada and seized the fork, naming it Duquesne. Now THEY held the gateway.

And so a veteran British army was sent from England under General Edward Braddock. It was joined by 2000 Americans, among whom was a tall young Virginian named George Washington. A military road had to be constructed through unbroken forest. At daybreak on July 9th, 1775, Braddock's army began to cross the Monongahela.

Back in the forest at Fort Duquesne, Contrecoeur, the French commander, was ready to surrender. But in his command happened to be an impetuous young captain named Beajeu, who pleaded for a chance to lead the few Frenchmen and the friendly Indians against Braddock.

The Indians drew back. They said to Beajeu:

"How, my Father, are you so bent on death that you would also sacrifice us? With our 600 men you ask us to attack 4000 English. Truly, this is not the saying of a wise man."

Beajeu, as cunning as he was brave, and a gifted actor, played his last card.

"I am determined to go out against the enemy," he shouted. "I am certain of victory. Will you suffer your father to depart alone?"

The reproach stung the savage breasts. Hundreds of howling [illegible] drowned the long roll of the [illegible].

PITTSBURGH, STEEL CENTER OF AMERICA
"The City Could Celebrate Its [illegible]"

WASHINGTON RODE with Gen. Braddock that day. In after life he often recalled the sight of the British Grenadiers marching [illegible] Virginians in battle [illegible] Washington with the [illegible] Until 11 o'clock Braddock was across the river. No enemy [illegible].

Suddenly, Beaujeu came bounding into sight. 800 wolves at his heels. The horde scattered in the trees, taking cover behind trees and rocks, fighting THEIR style of battle.

Washington's Virginia woodsmen took to the trees like ducks to water, but Braddock insisted on having his men fight in solid phalanx, European style.

It could not last long. Bulldog Braddock knew not the meaning of retreat. Fatally wounded, the general begged for a pistol to end his own life and was refused. Washington had two horses killed under him and four bullets passed through his coat.

MY DAY

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 17 [illegible] clippings which were sent me, I see that Mr. Bruce Barton takes me to task for having attributed [illegible] remarks on housing to him and comparing them to a rather involved sentence quoted from Mr. A. P. Herbert.

I am sorry if I did Mr. Barton an injustice. I thought that a paper I read attributed certain remarks to him and that I gave the gist of the [illegible].

I apologize, however, if I was careless in my reading and added what I thought I read without verification.

However, I still want to make the point that Mr. Herbert is right. Many of us today say things in such an involved manner that they are hard to understand, or we do not take the trouble to face ourselves and make sure that we are trying to give our true convictions when we speak.

LAST NIGHT was almost cold and we sat up and talked much later than usual, for Mr. Donald [illegible] and two young women [illegible] talk drifted into reading aloud.

Have you found in rereading [illegible] things that you discover [illegible] new beauties and meanings in the lines?

MRS. ROOSEVELT
Prefers Informality

One of the young girls said that she had heard someone trying to describe a Southern lady the other day and when I read that particular bit out of Benet's "John Brown's Body," which it is to my mind the best description of a lady some 50 years back anywhere in this country, she marked:

"If we could have been at that ball we would have been real [illegible]."

I noticed that Emily Post, in an article the other day, stressed the value of formalities, using as an example, the charm of the Queen of England.

It is true that formalities add greatly to certain occasions, but I think they should be kept in their proper place, for if they creep in too often, they tend to make people a little unnatural and self-conscious. The charm of most Americans is that they can forget formality when the occasion warrants it.

WE HAD a lady from South Africa, who has been on a trip through eastern Canada and is on her way back to England, lunch with us today. She had many adventures in getting here but she was impressed with the kindness of Americans when they met people in trouble. She is young and pretty and I am not at all surprised that everyone was willing to lend her a helping hand.

She finally got our Hyde Park postmaster to deliver her at our cottage door, and I am glad to say that he reassured her by saying that she would find I was a pleasant American even if you were late.

A TEST FOR FUTURE FILM STARS

By Reuben Mamoulian

(By REUBEN MAMOULIAN, well-known motion picture director, who is today's guest columnist for Leonard Lyons)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. Those who want to be stars, like Marlene Dietrich, and, judging by the mail pouring into [illegible] that [illegible] hundred million good Americans should answer as soberly as they can the questions which I have formulated as a result of my experience in films.

If the answer is "yes" mark yourself with a score [illegible] to the maximum figure it [illegible] After you've [illegible] wife or [illegible] broken and [illegible] terms for [illegible] together after [illegible] do not walk, to the nearest psychiatrist; if it [illegible] you haven't a ghost of a chance. If it's anywhere [illegible] you have one chance in a hundred million. If your total is 99 (and there's apt to be something fishy about that), then your chance is as high as one in a million.

But don't get discouraged. Without fear or prejudice or vanity, answer [illegible] questions:

MARLENE DIETRICH

1. HAVE YOU [illegible] Score 10.

Charm is a [illegible] quickly in relation to [illegible] a world where people find easy to understand and [illegible] explain. [illegible] of planet is [illegible] Things that can't be explained are always fascinating.

So there you are, [illegible] what like a dress [illegible] and concrete, yet mentally intangible and elusive.

2. HAVE YOU "PERSONALITY?" Score 30.

This "personality" business also is somewhat of an enigma. Still, I would define it as a capacity to interest and attract people without making an effort to do so. Is your presence felt in a crowded street car?

3. ARE YOU CINEMATIC?—Score 25.

When you lean over a baby's cradle, does the infant gurgle with pleasure and try to grab your nose with his busy little fingers or does he shriek with fright? When you are on the beach do people gasp and make inarticulate remarks about the Greek gods or do they sigh longingly for the return of the three-piece bathing suit?

In other arts looks are unimportant. It does not matter how a writer appears as long as he writes well, nor does it matter whether a painter is attractive as a person; you judge him by his paintings, not by his manners.

4. CAN YOU ACT? Score 5.

P.S. If your answers to these four questions give you a score of 99 and if you have finally succeeded in getting that one chance to reach the screen, remember that the final scoring will be done by the hundred million of your [illegible]

Strain broth and boil down to 2 cups. Add milk and heat. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and blend well. Add hot liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add chicken, parsley, salt and pepper. Pour into casserole and cover with pastry. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes 6 individual casseroles.

Sift flour and salt into bowl. Cut in fat until mixture is in pieces about the size of peas. Add water gradually to make a very dry dough. Turn out on pastry cloth. Roll to desired thickness. Cut and fit into casseroles with pastry. Fill with cold meat mixture. Cover with pastry. Bake 40 minutes in hot oven (400 degrees F.).

Relief for Oily Skin

THINKING of the dry skin so prevalent lately

It's to be left thin film of it, two or three times a week. You'll find this thin liquid, which though called a cream is actually less solid than one of the pretty delightful to use and leaves the skin smoothly glowing in very few treatments. So exquisitely does it tone up the skin that it makes a grand fifteen-minute treatment before going out of an evening. Tired lines soon cease to exist.

If your skin is excessively oily a full week's treatments, one every night, will give a delightful new texture and look.

If you find that you like this three-preparation "astringent cream," there Arlene should tell you a

Sox Series: Cooleth: Wise Word: Curiosa

BOSTON, HOPE — Thirty-odd Boston optimists [illegible] applications for World Series tickets [illegible] Significantly none of the envelopes contain cash or checks the optimists aren't that optimistic! In reply the Sox are mailing out stereotyped postcards, thanking their patrons for their deep abiding faith, praying that the miracle will happen and concluding with the thought that perhaps it is a trifle premature to hire bands, tack up bunting and listen for the happy hurrahs of a pennant hungry people.

BLOOD COOLER — Here's something to sooth your summer heat-rash! Walter Brown, able son of his late able sire and hereditary manager of the Boston Garden, is back from dickering for a date with Sonja Henie—not a tete-a-tete, but a touch of the Scandinavian skate cuddly's glacial ballet next winter. The matter hinges on whether the little dancette can finish her next moving picture in time to tour, for which task she draws $200,000. Meanwhile the Bruins have set their opening hockey game for Nov. 14. By the eve of Nov. 30 (Thanksgiving Day! Remember?) the Garden's humpbacked ski chute will be hosed over with fake snow for the annual Ski carnival. And in mid-January the Ice Follies come for a week's sojourn. Yes Sir! the Garden is practically a mass of frozen crystals and chilblains right now.

Grove Inspiration To Yawkees Clan

By JOE CASHMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17—The backbone of the Red Sox pitching staff, Moses "Lefty" Grove is the sole hope of restoring the morale of the Red Sox today. The big southpaw, who pitched the Athletics to three pennants, is counted upon to restore the winning spirit of the Boston delegation after their setback Tuesday night by "Line-drive" Nelson.

HOMEWORK—Sibby Sisti, Bees' boy infielder, does a bit of his homework at the Beehive college where he's studying for his varsity degree under Professor Stengel and the Kellys. He may get a chance at the Hive in the current home stay of the Bees, who tackle the Dodgers tomorrow after a day's rest.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Henry Armstrong outpointed Lou Ambers in 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden for world's lightweight title, becoming only man in ring history to hold three titles simultaneously.

THREE YEARS AGO — Glenn Cunningham broke world 800-meter record by one-tenth second in 1:49.7 at Stockholm meet.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

BADMINTON AND tennis are more strenuous sports than baseball and boxing . . . The California moving picture magnate who told his executives they could have an extra half hour for luncheon each day if they played badminton, wasn't acting the part of Santa Claus . . . Anybody who isn't in condition who attempts to play badminton for half an hour becomes a candidate for a convalescent home.

I have been playing badminton this Summer with some of the little Bostons at Scituate . . . After my first attempt at the game, I pulled up lame like some of the horses one bets on at the track . . . I kept sticking my chin out and can now last 15 minutes on a badminton court without sending in an emergency call for an ambulance . . . Badminton is a fast, fascinating game, and has become quite the thing at Summer places . . . It doesn't require as much space to play as does tennis . . . The game looks simple, and this makes it attractive . . . Playing badminton you will find you have muscles that you never knew existed.

I presume that after getting into condition that anyone can play the game with as little effort as is required to take a warm shower.

If you do not believe tennis is a strenuous game, I suggest that you drop out to Longwood for the doubles championships . . . Speed, power and endurance are necessary for success in a major tennis clash.

You might include four-mile crew racing in your list of sports that require exceptional stamina . . . A college crew could make a group of professional athletes look like sissies in a four-mile crew race.

Ambers Will Be Strong at 135 Pounds

MATCHMAKER "RIP" VALENTI is back from Lou Ambers' training camp with the news that the former lightweight king is in grand condition for his 15-round battle with Hammering Henry Armstrong that will be staged in New York on next Tuesday night.

"Ambers will be able to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds and still be strong," said Valenti . . . "Ambers is boxing fast, and is confident he will conquer Armstrong."

In the last meeting between Ambers and Armstrong, Lou made a sensational finish, and almost piled up enough points to entitle him to the decision.

Valenti has called off his plan to run a special train to New York for the bout as many fans planned to make the trip to New York by boat and train . . . Valenti has some choice tickets for Boston fans and they may be secured at the Goodwin Club's office.

Random Shots at Target

DAN CARROLL is expected to purchase Abe Denner's contract . . . Denner is a former Hearst All-America boxing champion, and has shown good boxing class since he entered the ranks of the professionals.

With Mahatma Gandhi in the news again, I am reminded that John T. Lambert, vice-president of Suffolk Downs, helped write the declaration of independence for India, and later received an Indian flag which was made by hand by Mahatma Gandhi.

The management of the Marshfield Fair confirms my story that it will conduct eight instead of seven races a day at its running horse meeting next week . . . There is an abundance of horses at this time of the year . . . The Goodwin Club will be back in the Garden promoting boxing shows in the early fall.

Asks Fair Play

I KNOW THERE must be thousands of racing fans like myself who are disgusted with that class of poor sports who always boo and howl at the judges when their choice (either horse or dog) loses in a photo finish.

Take the case of Rural Rifle on Monday night. That was the most thrilling race I have ever seen by the greatest greyhound of the century. The photo shows he got up to win by a full two inches over Suwanee after a magnificent stretch drive.

If a person cannot enjoy racing as a sport and shrug off his losses without yelling he was robbed, let him stay home and play checkers.

WILLIAM H. BALLOU,

Night Baseball

Young ball players hit better under the lights at night than do the veterans. I note that William, and Doerr were the only Red Sox players to do any hitting under the lights in Philadelphia. It takes young eyes to follow the ball in night games.

J. H., Somerville.

Praise for Case

Case of the Senators has made a startling art out of stealing bases that his status as a fly chaser and batter have been overlooked. Case beats out many hits, and is one of the most promising players in the major leagues.

Tremont st., Boston.

Long Shot Week

I haven't been surprised to see so many long priced horses win at Narragansett Park this week. The history of racing proves that the first and last week of any meeting is the time when the horsemen put their long priced choices over.

SENNA UPSET BY DAVE PAUL IN JUNIOR GOLF THRILLER

By BILL GRIMES

BLUE HILL COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 17—Dave Paul of Bear Hill fired a brilliant 74 at Walter Senna of New Bedford to blast the boy from the Whaling City out of the state junior golf championship in the quarter-finals here today, by two up.

VICTIM—Bancroft G. Davis, Jr., of The Country Club, bangs one down the middle in vain at Blue Hill, in the Junior golf quarterfinals. He fell victim to Ed Franzeim of Bellevue, tourney medalist, 3 and 2, this morning. Davis was three up at the turn, but his foe came on to take the duel and enter the semifinals.

Paul, a 16-year-old youngster who is headed for Annapolis, was steady as a battleship as he cruised to the turn in 37 to gain a one-up margin. He never faltered through the incoming holes, and still had his one-up edge going to the 18th.

Senna's chances seemed to rise then when Paul's second was some 30 yards short of the green. Davey calmly lined up his sights and fired an approach that skipped up to within a foot of the pin. And it was all over.

FRANZEIM WINNER

Paul captured the junior-junior title last year, so his impressive win today gives him a chance to hold two titles in as many years.

Ed Tano, Jr., of Vesper polished off Jack Sheehy of Salem, 2 and 1; Ed Franzeim of Belleville ousted Bancroft Davis, Jr., of The Country Club, 3 and 2, and Jim Danahy of Blue Hill put skids under Doug Carr of Whitinsville, 2 and 1, in the other quarterfinals.

Sheehy was five down at the turn after his opponent set a terrific pace to have a medal outgoing tally of 33 with a five at the ninth. Sheehy grabbed the 10th, but went five down again when Tabor took the 12th. Sheehy kept on fighting and won the 13th, 15th and 16th to keep the match going to the 17th.

FRANZEIM CONQUERS

Franzeim was three down at the turn to Davis, but then the Clyde Park boy seemed to become a bit shaky and he lost the 10th, then halved two holes. Franzeim, medalist with 71 the other day, rose to the heights to take four straight and the match.

Danahy galloped out in 37 to knit together a three-up edge. But he dropped three in a row after halving the 10th and 11th. He braced and took the 16th and 17th and the match.

In the junior-junior division, three of the matches were won by heavy margins but there was one real battle with Francis Kelley of Albemarle taking a one-up decision over John Stone of Sharon at the 19th hole.

David Paul, Bear Hill, defeated Walter Senna, New Bedford, 2 up.

Title Auto Race At Medford

Midget auto racing hits the high spot of the summer season at Riverside Park, Medford, tonight with the running of the mid-season New England championships—a title feature which has attracted more than 30 of the greatest speed kings in this part of the country.

With every driver starting from scratch and past performances forgotten ever the rebuilt tricky quarter-mile oval, all records should go by the boards in this 25-lap feature.

The possibility of added points means much to drivers such as Oscar Hudlon, Danny Murphy, Lou Veletti, Tommy Simonetti, Bob Blair and others.

These speed kings, though, will have to put on performances bordering on the sensational to stop the "Big Three"—Rufe Anderson, Ed Eng and Bob King.

Last Call to Water Follies

For those who cannot go to New York to see Billy Rose's Aquacade, here is the last opportunity to see the Water Follies of 1939 at Revere Beach.

After next Tuesday night the entire troupe will start on a long tour which will bring them out to the San Francisco Exposition.

While this is the fourth year the Follies have appeared at Revere, experts agree that it is by far the best production ever presented. The thousands that have witnessed this great water spectacle during the past week unanimously agree that for sheer thrills and entertainment it ranks on par with the World's Fair Aquacade.

Pro Football League Opens Season Sept. 7

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — Split into northern and southern divisions for the first time, the eight-team American Professional Football Association will open its 1939 season on Thursday night, Sept. 7, when the Paterson (N. J.) Panthers play at Danbury, Ct. The season will end Dec. 10, with a playoff between the two division leaders.

Yellow Fin Tuna Boated at Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, N. S., Aug. 17 (Canadian Press)—A 645-pound yellow-fin tuna, rare in Nova Scotian waters, was boated near here by Glenroy W. Scott of Keene, N. H., in 50 minutes. It was believed this was the only yellow-fin ever caught in these waters.

Vander Meer Takes Treatment for Arm

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 17 (AP)—Lee Jensen, one-time baseball trainer, said the Cincinnati Baseball Club had arranged for Johnny Vander Meer to come here within the next five days for muscular treatment of his pitching arm.

The Cincinnati hurler, winner of two consecutive no-hit, no-run games last season, has turned in five victories this year against eight defeats.

SPORT INTERLUDES

West Most Valuable Player on Bees Roster | Hatherly Course Best on South Shore

By BILL GRIMES

Manager Casey Stengel didn't exactly "cotton" to the two defeats that the lowly Phillies pinned on his Bees . . . He's well fed up on the one run defeats his charges have been receiving . . . And, nothing short of a clean sweep against the Dodgers will satisfy Ol' Case.

The Cardinals moved in on the Reds by taking both ends of yesterday's double header from the Pirates, for the McKechniemen, with Bucky Walters on the hilltop, were taken over the jumps by Claud Passeau and the Chicago Cubs. . . .

MAX WEST

Casey Stengel has developed Maxie West into a valuable asset to the Bees . . . And, Casey was the only one who saw any future for Maxie as a big leaguer . . . A year ago, West was just another ball player . . . Today, there isn't a club in the National League that wouldn't dig deep to purchase the Stengel protege.

★ ★ ★

Billy Stewart, son of the National League umpire, will enter Notre Dame next month . . . Young Bill is a fine athlete . . . He's a football, baseball and hockey player, and the South Bend institution will be singing the praise of Billy Stewart during the next four years.

★ ★ ★

Despite the fact that it conflicts with the South Shore championship, the Hatherly Country Club annual four-ball tournament, which is scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday, should attract one of the largest fields of the season.

★ ★ ★

The Hatherly four-ball will be a medal play Metropolitan Style event . . . That in itself should double the usual number of entries . . . The Metropolitan Style is practically new in this district and therefore it isn't clear to many open tournament players.

For instance, few foursomes realize that under the metropolitan system they can engage in no less than six matches . . .

Let me explain . . . We'll say that a foursome goes down to Minot (North Scituate to me) and enters the Hatherly four-ball tourney . . . There can be SIX matches in ONE foursome . . . We will call the players in one foursome Jones, Smith, White and Black . . .

Jones tells the charge d'affaire that he will play with Smith, White and Black . . . Then Smith steps up and announces that White and Black will be his partners . . . After which White says, "O. K., I'll team up with Black" . . . So get your foursomes together and take a shot at the Hatherly four-ball either tomorrow or Saturday . . .

The Hatherly course is not difficult . . . It's an ideal summer course, without any hills and swept by cooling breezes . . . And, while on the subject of Hatherly, it is very appropriate to state that the North Scituate club holds the all-time record for entries in an open tournament . . .

You've read about the record breaking entries at Marshfield and Highland, but Hatherly's 342 is still tops in my books, for no player was allowed to play more than one round when Hatherly hung up that record . . . And there were no souvenirs to entice players to enter.

★ ★ ★

George Curley, the 15-year-old son of Jack Curley, who was one of the best professionals ever developed in New England, is a promising golfer in his own right, despite the fact that he cannot straighten his left arm, from which, according to the golf experts, the power is derived.

Young Curley qualified in the juniors with a 78 and he was beaten in the first round by Dickie Harris, Longmeadow, who jumped him by carding four straight 4s from the fourth hole through the seventh . . . In fact, Harris was even 4s for 15 holes . . . While on a recent visit, Dave Morey, who was so unceremoniously relieved of his coaching berth at Bates College, took a few golf lessons from John Bernardi, pro at Charles River . . .

DAVE MOREY

★ ★ ★

There are 206 entries in the women's national championship which gets under way next week at Norton, Ct. . . . Ten of the local fair sex will be in action . . . Al Surette, the local boy who created such a sensation last winter in the Ice Follies at the Boston Garden, is skating in the Sun Valley Show at the World's Fair . . .

Frankie Frisch, the Fordham flash, and Homer Rose, the stylist from Niles, O., lost a decision to Rittanseit early this week, notwithstanding the fact that they played during a dead calm.

★ ★ ★

Freddie Corcoran, the tournament manager of the P. G. A., is "Down Home" . . . He is in St. John, N. B., for the Canadian open championship, but he plans to visit some of his relatives in N. S. and Newfoundland before returning to the "States."

COURT OF PEACE—Billy Conn, left, and brother Jackie trade fraternal socks at the World's Fair Conn-clave of champions.

Champ Still 'My Billy' To Fighting Conns' Ma

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17 (AP)—To everyone else Billy Conn may be the world's light heavyweight boxing champion, but to his mother he's still a big kid who plays sandlot baseball in his bare feet.

"Take last Saturday night," plump, jovial Mrs. William Conn, Sr., said today. "Billy was due to leave on the 7:15 p. m. plane for Philadelphia to fight that boy Gus Dorazio. (Conn's first defense of his title.) But where's Billy—down in a sandlot playing with the boys he was raised with.

"At the last minute he comes tearing into the house barefoot, undressing as he runs, and jumps into some clean clothes just in time to catch the plane . . .

RACES HOME AFTER FIGHT

"He's a home boy. He hurries right home after every fight.

"But he won't talk about the fight. He'll just say to me:

"'Peg o' My Heart,' here I am. What have you got that's good to eat.'

"People say 'I bet you're so proud of Billy.' I tell them he's just the same Billy—there's no difference now that he's got the title."

Fighting is second nature to the Conns, who live in a small brick house in a semi-industrial section.

After dinner, 21-year-old Billy and brother Jackie, 17, his sparring partner and a boxer in his own right, start mixing it up. Pop, a brawny pipe-fitter who looks like Actor Errol Flynn and is just as handy with his dukes, pitches in.

FAMILY BATTLES

Frank, 20, another son, joins the fray, and there they are, all wrestling around the floor as though to shake the house down.

There's not much furniture in the living room—it wouldn't allow enough room to fight.

That's the way it's been since Pop bought boxing gloves for his two daughters as well as the three sons, principally to help Mary Jane, 18, loosen up an arm she burned badly several years ago.

Once Mrs. Conn got caught in one of those household tussles.

"Jackie clipped me on the elbow and it was black and blue for a week," she related airily.

Mrs. Conn never goes to the fights, but is all for Billy's boxing career. She nodded quick assent when Pop predicted that Billy, with a few more years and a few more pounds, would beat Joe Louis for the heavyweight title, with a million-dollar gate.

PETS SEEK EIGHTH VICTORY

The Olympets will be seeking their eighth consecutive win of the year tonight when they tackle the undefeated New London Whalerettes at the Boston Arena in the feature bill of a doubleheader.

The Rahubath Milkmaids and the Totem Pole Girls will open the evening's entertainment at 7:45 when they clash in a Metropolitan League game that will settle the fight, for a while at least, for second place in the Met loop.

MOUND DUEL

Coach Jack Harris will unfurl his ace right hander, Mary Donnelly, on the Pets' mound against the fast stepping New London outfit.

On paper, the battle shapes up as a pitching duel between the Framingham miss and Norma Seipel of the invaders. The Seipel lass has enjoyed unusual success this season against all of her Connecticut rivals.

The Totem Pole array will have one of the Olympic track outfielders, Edna Stafford, on the firing line.
